DETAILED LIGHTING BREAKDOWN & CREATIVE STRATEGY

11:15 – 13:30 | MORNING DIFFUSED AMBIENT LIGHT

Characteristics: Crisp, high-lying winter light. If clear, it can cast bright shadows; if typically overcast, it acts as a massive natural softbox.
Creative Strategy: This window is completely utilized indoors for prep and during the ceremony inside The Scott Hotel. This perfectly protects your gallery from the flat or harsh midday outdoor tones, allowing you to maximize beautiful interior window light.

13:40 – 14:40 | EARLY LIGHT DECAY & LOW-LYING VALLEY WINDOWS

Characteristics: The sun begins its steep descent. Lower-lying geographic pockets like Dean Village start losing direct sunlight early as surrounding cliffs and buildings cast long shadows.
Creative Strategy: By hitting Dean Village and Circus Lane early in this window (14:10 – 14:40), you catch the last clean, luminous afternoon light before these tight northern architectural pockets fall into cold shade.

14:55 – 15:30 | PEAK DEEP GOLDEN HOUR (THE PREMIUM LIGHT)

Characteristics: The signature, highly-coveted winter glow. The sun skims just above the horizon line, bathing old stone architecture in soft, deeply warm amber hues. There are no harsh overhead shadows.
Creative Strategy: Placing you at Riddle's Court and Victoria Street at 14:55 is a deliberate, cinematic masterstroke. The low-angle sunlight strikes the colorful shopfronts beautifully. Following up immediately at The Vennel (15:15) uses the clean, intense horizontal light to brightly illuminate you both against a deeply textured, historic castle backdrop.

15:35 – 15:55 | MAGIC CIVIL TWILIGHT (THE 15:44 SUNSET WINDOW)

Characteristics: The 20-30 minutes framing the exact moment of sunset. Direct sun rays disappear, scattering rich pastel pinks, purples, and deep ink blues across the upper atmosphere, while the city's ambient street lights start to hum to life.
Creative Strategy: You are perfectly positioned in Princes Street Gardens at 15:35. Because the gardens offer a massive, wide-open view of the sky, your photographer will capture an epic, high-contrast silhouette or softly lit portrait of Becca & I framed against a sweeping violet sky and the glowing lights of Edinburgh Castle.

16:00 – 16:15 | HIGH-FASHION EDITORIAL NIGHT LIGHTS

Characteristics: Total darkness. Ambient natural light hits 0%, and the city is entirely illuminated by festive holiday bulbs and structural spotlights.
Creative Strategy: Arriving at The Dome at 16:00 shifts the style into high-fashion territory. Your photographer will deploy creative, off-camera flash units. This directional artificial light will make Becca & I pop sharply with crisp clarity, while the thousands of glowing Christmas fairy lights on the pillars blur into a soft, romantic, twinkling background (bokeh effect).
